Introduction

This document describes the business and credit data supplied in UC Web Services.

For more information about the UC Web Services, see the following document:

- UC Web Service – Technical description version 2.1.pdf

If you order for credit data through UC's Web Services, you can get the information both in XML - and HTML format, and in HTML format you can also get the summary.

UC can offer Web Services for most of our services and products and the intention is to facilitate integration of customers' internal IT systems with UC.

This document describes the service group UCOrders2 that assembles Web Services for ordering credit reports. At present in UCOrders2 UC can offer Web Services for ordering commercial reports for Swedish companies, business operator reports and personal credit reports as well as for checking names and addresses. All reports can be ordered together with a UC credit decision template. Set of credit rules.

All UC's Web Services are designed to be WS-I compliant (www.ws-i.org) and are tested in several different client environments, including Java and Microsoft dotnet.

All UC's Web Services support SOAP version 1.1.

Requirements for use

In order to use UC's Web Services a customer agreement is required whereby you obtain a customer number and password.

Reservations concerning information on private individual

With regard to XML-formatted credit report information on private individuals the Personal Data Act (PUL) must be complied with. This means that information about natural persons may only be used if you deem this to be in accordance with this Act. The information may not be used for the purposes of carrying on unlawful credit information activities, such as using old credit report information for new credit decisions. Further, the information may not be used for purposes for which it is not intended, such as marketing (Swedish Data Inspection Board regulation).

For more information concerning PUL and the Swedish Data Inspection Board's regulations please visit www.datainspektionen.se.

Reservations concerning information in UC's Web Service

Changes in the contents of UC's Web Services normally take place through the publication of a new version of the services. UC reserves the right to introduce new data in the products supplied via Web Services even without a version change and without informing the customer. When using UC's Web Services in your own applications consideration must thus be given to the fact that new data may be added and that data are only supplied in the cases where they include some relevant information. If a information changes or may be deleted this will be notified by UC for at least one month before the changes will take place.

Security

The security for Web Services is HTTPS and traditional authentication with customer number and personal identification code. If you have higher security requirements we can offer VPN. If you need other security solutions please contact UC.

Contact UC

For further information about UC's Web Services please email UC by email kundservice@uc.se. In case of technical problems please contact UC at phone + 46 8 670 90 00 or by email servicedesk.uc@logica.com

Changes in UC's information

Changes in content of the services via UC Web Services is usually done by new versions of the services. Information about new versions are provided to the customers who have noticed UC that they use the services. UC reserves the right to introduce new elements in the products supplied by UC Web Services without a change in version and without notice to you as a customer.

When using the UC Web Services in in-house applications must therefore take into account that new data can be added, and that data can only be delivered in case they contain anyrelevant information.
